“An an ideal resource for Spanish speakers interested in researching issues and events both current and past.”

Overview

According to recent research, Spanish is the second most common language in the United States, with trends suggesting that its usage will continue to grow rapidly. Spanish is also the most widely taught non-English language in secondary schools and institutions of higher education. To help serve Spanish speakers and those learning the language, NewsBank offers Acceda Noticias, a Web-based collection of Spanish-language news sources.

A resource for the large and growing Spanish-speaking population
Acceda Noticias provides Web-based access to the complete electronic versions of many newspapers and other news media published in major U.S. cities and from countries including Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Columbia, Ecuador, Mexico, Peru and Spain. It contains current and archived full-text articles. With this specialized resource, libraries can extend the domestic or international news coverage provided by their Access World News collection. Acceda Noticias can be cross-searched with these collections, and it shares the same user-friendly interface.

Spanish-language interface and coverage of current issues
Acceda Noticias not only features a wealth of primary source information from Spanish-language news sources and services, but also it enables students and faculty to choose between two versions of the interface—one in English and the other with all search, navigation and help in Spanish. Beyond, Acceda Noticias is an ideal resource for Spanish speakers interested in researching current issues, and it is also a useful tool for those learning Spanish or English as a second language. Acceda Noticias offers multiple perspectives on a wide range of current issues in the U.S. and abroad, including:

- Spanish history & culture
- Government & politics
- Entertainment
- Sports
- People
- Religion
- International relations
- Environment
- Immigration
- Civil rights
- Law
- And much more
