We’re disrupting the cycle of generational poverty by creating a Success Mindset™ for all families.

Yes! Our Kids Can exists to provide educators with an important tool they can use to fill a widening void – consistent, extensive college and career readiness with parent engagement in the early grades. While most pre-college and career outreach programs start in high school, by 7th grade too many students are lost to low expectations. By instilling a deep-seated understanding in students and families about why it is important to excel in school early on, a vital gap in the education ecosystem is filled.

It is YOKC's goal to ensure that every Texas student enters 8th grade with a Success Mindset, equipped with self-efficacy, healthy school habits, knowledge about the opportunities made available from higher education, and higher expectations for a prosperous future. YOKC makes students and families receptive to positive messages about college and career readiness that they will hear in higher grades.
